SWINGS, SLIDES AND SEE SAWS DELIGHT CHILDREN

Mattapoisett children, after an impatient wait, are now lining up for turns on the new playground equipment which has been installed on the Mattapoisett Center School playground. There is never a dull moment there, for the younsters of the village, as they gather for their turns on this beautiful new equipment.

The Lion's Club of Mattapoisett, under the administration of President Rennie Nunes, donated the time, money and effort to this latest project. Chairman of the committee was John Paiva and he was assisted by his co-chairmen Raymond Covill and Albert Morgado and a team of workers from the club. Members who participated were; Robert Pierce, Raymond Pound, Herbert Wheeler, Edward Sylvia and member at large, George Kilpatrick. Bruce Rocha, a volunteer non-member, worked along with the committee on this project and was of great help to them.

This is a donation by the service club that

We have always regarded music a most important part of the funeral service.

Subject to the wishes of the family, we can provide appropriate music at any time. Request numbers are always in order, and we want our patrons to feel free to make such requests. The matter of the musical selections is discussed with the family when funeral arrangements are being made.

Arizona, has packed more solid understanding of the position of the United States and the course of its foreign policy than has been put before the American public in years. There is force and logic backed by fact in this presentation that can be of value to every reader regardless of his political views. In regard to foreign policy all Americans are in the same boat and the Senator applies common sense and a knowledge of United States history to outline a goal in the present power struggle. This particular goal has been growing rapidly in disfavor with those who control the destiny of the country. It is, simply, victory for freedom. He states that the reason for U.S. failures, in spite of the overwhelming superiority in power that we enjoy, is largely due to stopgap re- . action to a co-ordinated series of power thrusts on the part of the Communist nations. Their goal is total victory. Our answer is containment, concession and compromise with no definite end in view and no organized plan to carry out a common cause. To increase the danger, our internationists are willing and eager to sacrifice U.S. power to a dream for which the world is not ready and may not be ready for centuries. They avocate a world government under world law in our present day. Realistically, the world has no common ground for agreement and certainly has no basic conception of law.

On summit conferences, Goldwater says that we will lose every one we attend. Why? Because, he states, the Communists go to the summit to win concessions. If they meet resistance to their demands, they turn their powerful world propaganda machine into a weapon by accusing the United States of wrecking the conference and destroying the worlds chance for peace. He cited the Summit conference after the U2 flight as a classic example of this technique. President Eisenhower was subjected to the vile insults of Khrushchev for a two fold purpose. Khrushchev knew, on the way to the conference, that the western powers were united and that he could win no concessions. The Russian people had been led to believe, by Soviet propaganda, that their skys could never be penetrated. The shot down U2 and the disclosure that the flights had been going on for years exploded this myth. Khrushchev, by use of his tirade, save himself from being backed down at the conference table and at the same time he completely diverted attention from the fact that the U2 flights were a triumph of American genius in aircraft manufacture in building a plane which had run flights over Russia at will.

"Why Not Victory" gives Goldwater's views on the U.N., foreign aid, neutral nations, the Cuban invasions which he contrasts with our past action in Cuba as a young nation weak in power but decisive and resolute in action. He gives ideas which are historically proven by which we can deal with foreign nations. Goldwater also mentions U.S. propaganda now being advanced by the President. It is so hypocritical that no one in government takes it seriously. Yet, said Goldwater, we continue to advance a disarmament plan that would strip the U.S. of its military might in air power and leave the Communist all powerful in land forces. This book has so much

WATERING THE LAWN

With the long dry spell people are having to water early to save their lawns from burning up before summer.

Experts recommend that a little more than an inch of water be applied at each watering. A good way to determine how long it takes to apply an inch of water is to set a row of empty coffee cans from the sprinkler to the edge of the spray. In addition you can see the pattern of the sprinkler.

Most sprinklers apply more water near the center than the edges. The coffee cans can
